Peace Once More.

By Cable and Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Peace reigns once more in the Customs Committee of the Senate. At yesterday's meeting of that committee Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Roche, Minister of the Colonies, defended the government's proposition for raising the prohibition for the importation of American pork, and to substitute for this prohibition a duty of 20 francs. Ferry, after several members of the committee had expressed their views in opposition to the measure, proposed to postpone the discussion until to vote of 8 to 5. Whereupon Ferry declared he would at once resign the Presidency of the committee. Efforts were made to induce Ferry to reconsider his determination, with the result that he consented to withdraw his resignation.

Smuggling Senators.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The Times has a special dispatch from Washington, D. C., which says: Startling disclosures are promised in regard to smuggling opium into this country from the British Possessions. It declares, that after six months of investigation, the officers of the secret service, made ponderous reports to the Treasury Department, showing the existence of an opium smuggling ring, which includes many prominent men and United States Government officials, and that in extent, it has not been equalled since the famous whiskey ring of '76. At least two United States Senators and five Congressmen are implicated.

U. S. Sailors Killed.

By Cable and Associated Press.

VALPARAISO, Oct. 17.—Three and perhaps four American sailors from the cruiser Baltimore, were killed, and several others were more or less severely wounded in a desperate street fight yesterday with Chilean sailors. A number of Chileans were found, to be badly hurt after the fight. There are several accounts as to the origin of the difficulty; the one most plausible being that the hostile feeling toward Americans prompted the insult to the blue jackets, which the latter forcibly resented. The affair is much regretted in official circles.

Killed by the Cars.

Special to the GAZETTE.

WINTER, (Cal.) Oct. 17.—J. T. Elliott manager of I. B. Chandler's lumber yard, was killed by the cars this morning. He leaves a wife and little son.

Merchants Meeting.

Special to the GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—A meeting of the San Francisco Manufacturers, Producers and Merchants was held at the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon. Chairman J. B. Stetson, in calling the meeting to order, stated its object was the formation of a freight bureau or traffic association the object of which would be the mutual protection and extension of the trade interests of San Francisco, and the overcoming by united effort of discrimination and inequalities against those interests. Representation in conferences upon matters of importance to the shipping public and with the railroads or transportation companies was also a matter to be discussed by the meeting. "We believe," he said, "that by united action we can present to the railroad or transportation companies, views in reference to freights and classifications that will cause them to make changes that will be beneficial both to ourselves and them."

An Old Convict Released.

Special to the GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—"Shorty" Hayes, who was convicted of stage robbery in Marysville on February 16, 1874, was formally released to-day after nearly eighteen years imprisonment at San Quentin. Hayes held up the Forest Hill stage in September, 1873, being assisted by Eddie Lee and Jake Clarke. The latter and two others helped him hold up the stage between Yreka and Redding about a month afterwards, and for this Hayes and two of his companions were put in jail at Shasta. Hayes escaped, but was compelled by hunger to get himself up. He was sentenced to 21 years imprisonment for the October robbery, and subsequently tried and sentenced to 30 years for the September robbery. He has twice escaped since then, the last time being recaptured at Los Angeles in January, 1885. In consideration of good conduct Governor Irwin in 1878 commuted his sentence.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17.—The morning papers say the United States Deputy Marshals have served subpoenas upon the officials of the Missouri Pacific, Wabash, Alton and other roads to appear before the Federal Grand Jury in the coming week. The complaints, it is said, are founded upon the allegations of the payment of rebates, commissions, etc., to secure business.

A Small Favor Asked.

I. N. Bakeless, the victim of the late burglary, in an interview with a GAZETTE reporter, expressed the earnest wish that the burglars, now that they have gotten away with the coin paroled so successfully from his safe, would at least have the generosity to return via the back fence, post-office or front door route the papers that are not of the slightest value to them, yet are of great value to Mr. Bakeless. The box and till would be most acceptably received to remove the dilapidated appearance of the gutted safe. A wild duck and game dinner in the most recherche French style will be proffered to the parties who accomplished the job, or the price of it. "No names mentioned, identity disclosed, no questions asked." slw Jinks (at a variety entertainment)—That fellow in front of us was about the only one who didn't applaud that good old song, "Don't Despair a Man because He Wears a Ragged Coat." He must be a regular aristocrat, isn't he? Blinks—Well, I dunno. Maybe he's a tailor, but he dresses well, anyhow, and buys his clothes at John Sunderland's, which shows that he's no fool.

THE LYCEUM.

A Fine Program Carried Out Last Evening—Senator Stewart's Address.

The Reno Lyceum last evening entertained the people in a charming manner. Senator Stewart's lecture on "Silver, Gold and Progress" was both interesting and instructive. He reviewed the money question from the downfall of the Roman Empire up to the present time and proved conclusively that a larger volume of money was what we wanted.

The Senator said that from 1810 to 1840 the annual production of the mines of the world of both gold and silver did not exceed $3,000,000. From 1840 to 1850 gold mining in Russia was revived and the annual production came to about $40,000,000. The discovery of gold in California in 1848 and in Australia two years later soon increased the annual production of the precious metal to $120,000,000, and went on to show that that was sufficient for the use of the world until the great crime of demonetizing silver was committed in 1873.

The speaker showed that the thirty-five years since 1840 and 1873 was the most important period in the world's history, and said that free coinage would make the next twenty-five years still more progressive. The Senator was listened to attentively throughout the evening and was frequently interrupted with applause.

The musical part of the entertainment was also very fine, the duet of Mrs. W. S. Bender and Mrs. Layton being particularly worthy of mention and received a hearty encore. The Lyceum's next entertainment will be given on the 31st of October.

CARSON GOSSIP.

Bits of News Gathered from the Capital.

EDITOR GAZETTE.—Carson is not very lively, and sickness and death meet one on every side. However, we look for something better soon.

The many friends of Mrs. T. B. Riecky sincerely regret her loss. She was a woman of sterling worth and leaves a place in the society of Carson that will not soon be filled.

The Bigelow family will prove quite an acquisition to our "400." The Judge is having his new residence renovated inside and out. I wonder if they intend to entertain this winter?

Miss Ella Bender will not be here during the winter, and that means a scarcity of parties.

It is rumored that a certain lady, who spends most of her time in Washington, assisted by a young lady who resides in Carson, but who has a bitter antipathy to the common herd, will undertake to revolutionize Carson society this fall and winter.

If John Meder decides to take his amateur performers to Reno, you will enjoy a rare treat. They produced the "Interviewer" here a few days ago, and did remarkably well.

I confidently expect to see our tennis experts return from the tournament with all the honors. Colburn and Parkinson play a brilliant game, but are not "in it" with Gardner and Ardery.

PERSONALS.

M. Nathan leaves this evening for the bay to purchase his fall goods.

Mrs. W. H. Inman, daughter and maid, from New York, are on an inspection tour to the Comstock mines.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 26th of last May, while in Des Moines, en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhoea. Having sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past seventeen years, and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25 cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. THE Journal this morning glows over the fact that the GAZETTE published a note on September 28th complimentary to the State Board of Assessors for the manner in which they had done the work of assessing the railroad. The article in question was based upon information received in a special dispatch to the GAZETTE from Carson which said the assessment on the C. P. main line had been placed at $14,000 per mile throughout the State. Had that assessment not included the rolling stock, which the dispatch said nothing about, we believe the assessment would have been entirely satisfactory to the people, and that they (the people) would have cheerfully stood a raise of 20 per cent. It is only necessary to call attention to the unjust assessment of Douglas county as compared with Washoe to prove that "the railroads are by no means the only property that needs looking after." Douglas county is only assessed in round numbers at $700,000, when $5,000,000 would not buy it, and Washoe pays on over $4,000,000. The GAZETTE will compare its record, politically or any other way, with that of the Journal or Mr. Kelley's little sheet published in the eastern part of the State prior to January 1st. The Journal is trying hard to please all round, and what it says one day it takes back the next, and is as inconsistent as it is narrow. However, we are content to let it manage its business and politics in its own peculiar way.

THE Journal's jab at the GAZETTE this morning for giving the Board of Assessors and Equalization credit for making a fair assessment on the railroads in our edition of September 28th, as we then understood it, shows its animosity to a business rival. It condemns us for doing just what it did itself, and snorts and howls about "comment being unnecessary," to a degree that would do credit to Brick Pomeroy when maligning Union soldiers during the war. The reason is too apparent for the GAZETTE to take any notice of it, and we should treat it with the contempt it deserves but for the purpose of showing its object. We quote from that paper of September 27th, which says:

"It must be conceded that the Board has done fully as much, if not more than it was expected to do in the matter of railroad assessments. It has, as we understand it," (and the GAZETTE took the same view of it) "increased the valuation of the Central Pacific over a million and a half of dollars in the State, and the assessment of the Virginia & Truckee proportionately. Whether this will be satisfactory to the magnates remains to be seen."

"The action of the Board so far leads to the belief that the corporations will regret that the bill became a law. God moves in a mysterious way with His wonders to perform."

We don't believe in bearing false witness against our neighbor, hence these facts.

Did it ever occur to the people of this State that they might bring San Francisco and possibly the Southern Pacific to time by doing their trading at the East? California, and especially San Francisco, is the second worst enemy this State has ever had, and why should we continue to contribute to her support? San Francisco will suffer the Southern Pacific Co. to practice all sorts of discriminations against the people of this State in order to bring trade at her doors, and the GAZETTE believes if our people would quit trading there we would see a difference in a very short time.

THE Journal says this morning: "It is hardly fair to blame the State Board of Assessors and Equalization for the injustice of the Act creating it. They are simply enforcing the provisions of the law." In its issue of the 15th it says: "The State Board, without inquiry into the justice of the act, and without knowledge of the value of the property in a county, increases its value 20 per cent. This is simply an outrage."

THE Journal is an artful dodger. Since the last report five applications to purchase land were filed, embracing 776.95 acres.

HE TRIED TYPEWRITING.

Experiences of a Young Man Who Essayed to Master the Instrument.

There is a young lawyer in this city, says the New York Times, who does a little literary work outside of his profession, who got himself a typewriter as an aid to his labors, and now he says that he is on the verge of insanity. And he lays it all to the typewriter. When he first sat down to the machine, he says, he thought that it would be an easy thing to master it, but in a few days his hands were going round in circles over it in vain attempts to find the letter that he wanted.

That was only the beginning, however, for taking the matter up on a scientific basis he set out to learn the exact location of all the keys. By the end of the first day every word that he heard in conversation set him to figuring out where each letter would be on his key board—whether in the first row, or the second, or the third, or on the left or the right of the middle line of the keyboard. And then he would try to recall what little dice he had to strike to make a per cent. mark, and what for the dollar sign, and what for notation marks, and what for a dozen other marks, each one of which had to be made in a special way.

And at the end of two months of practice, when he could strike off the words at a rate that made the machine rattle, and was beginning to think that he was quite an operator, he sat down for a little test. He had a friend to read to him, and for two minutes wrote with his pen. The result was thirty words for each minute, written very legibly. Then he tackled the typewriter. The machine made a great racket, and he thought that he must be making a new record.

When the second two minutes were up the perspiration was dropping from his brow. The count showed to the credit of the second test just forty words, and of them just nineteen were spelled wrongly through the striking of wrong keys, and which had to be corrected. A typewriter little used may be obtained at a very low figure.

DEVOTED TO SPIDERS.

A Lifetime Spent in Collecting and Studying the Insects.

"One of the curious things of this life," remarked an ex-congressman to a Pittsburgh Dispatch man, "is the devotion of some men to an idea without regard to the opinion of the rest of the world and without hope of reward. I know of a man from my state who has devoted a lifetime to spiders. He died in the Alps, where he had been for two years collecting specimens of spiders. He sacrificed his life to spiders. He has left a collection of some twenty-eight thousand distinct varieties. You would hardly think there were many more spiders in existence. This man had them stuck up in sections, in classes, fully labelled."

"He began fooling with spiders when a boy. He had a room that he would allow no one to sweep or clean, and encouraged the spiders to such an extent that they would come to him and feed out of his hand. He discovered that by repeatedly destroying a web a spider reached a stage where his power of reproducing web is exhausted. When that stage was reached the spider attacked another spider, killed him, and took his ball web from him. Just like a human being, don't you see? Before this man died, he embalmed his knowledge of spiders in two volumes. He was a spider-fancier."

BOOMING IN GEORGIA.

The Dangers of Bragg on Property in That State.

I heard an amusing conversation recently between two property-holders, says a writer in the Augusta Chronicle. One was speaking of improved values of property around Augusta, when he said: "A real estate holder in Augusta is afraid to try to boom his property for fear of having his tax assessment increased. If a man goes out on the street and makes the innocent remark that he wouldn't take twenty-five thousand dollars for certain property up goes the assessment to twenty-five thousand dollars even though he couldn't get twenty thousand dollars for it."

The other speaker said: "One day I had some friends at my house to dine. During the dinner I was asked what my place was worth and we were all feeling good and I wanted the value of the place to sound well, so I gave some extravagant figure which I could never have gotten for it. One of my guests happened to be a tax assessor and, would you believe it, my assessment was increased according to my rosy-tinted, champagne-inspired statement."

"The moral seems to be either that a man had better talk 'poor' or else that the assessors should take something more substantial as their basis of assessment than a man's after-dinner or ante-dinner talk."

The Woman Bicyclist.

Belva Lockwood was the first woman to ride a bicycle in Washington and she was ridiculed and jeered by the multitude, and the regulation anathemas of "unsexed woman" was hurled after her by the old fogies of conservatism. Now Mrs. Lockwood can ride the length of Pennsylvania avenue and not a masculine head would be turned. Custom makes laws as inexorable as those of the Medes and Persians. A bicycle tournament has just been held in that city, and the wives and sweethearts of the boys rode their bicycles beside them, and the crowds looked on and approved. The world "do more," and the wheels help it along.

Dragon's Blood.

After a young woman in Philadelphia had made a purchase and had gone, the druggist remarked: "That's the first time in five years I've had a call for dragon's blood. What is it? Well, it's a vegetable substance obtained from the fruits of several small palms in the East Indies. Many years ago it was in great demand among young women who wished to win back their recreant lovers, they burning a small lump of it with a certain form of incantation. It was also used as an astrigent. That girl has probably heard of it from her grandmother, and has determined to test its virtues. Which one? Well, that I can't say."

Malaria

Is believed to be caused by poisonous miasms arising from low, marshy land or from decaying vegetable matter, and which, breathed into the lungs, enter and poison the blood. If a healthy condition of the blood is maintained by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, one is much less liable to malaria, and Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured many severe cases of this distressing affection.

A Wonderful Medicine.

"For malaria I think Hood's Sarsaparilla has no equal. It has kept my children well right through the summer, and we live in one of the worst places for malaria in Maryland. I take Hood's Sarsaparilla for that all gone feeling, with great benefit." Mrs. R. F. Davis, Maryland, Cal.

Break-Bone Fever.

"My daughter Pearl was taken with dengue (or break-bone) fever 2 years ago, and my friends thought I would lose her. I had almost given up hope until she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. She took four bottles in four months, and gained 15 pounds. I thank Hood's Sarsaparilla for giving her back to me restored to health and strength." Julia A. Kins, Sherman, Texas.

Bad Blood.

Impure or vitiated blood is nine times out of ten caused by some form of constipation or indigestion that clogs up the system, when the blood naturally becomes impregnated with the effete matter. The old Sarsaparilla attempts to reach this condition by attacking the blood with the drastic mineral "potash." Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is modern. It goes to the seat of the trouble. It arouses the liver, kidneys and bowels and invigorates the circulation, and the impurities are quickly carried off through the natural channels.

Charles Lee, at Beach's Third and Market Sts., S. F., writes: "I took it for vitiated blood and while on the first bottle became convinced of its merits, for I could feel it was working a change. It cleansed, purified and freed me up generally, and everything is now working full and regular."

BEECH'S TEA—PURE AS CHILDHOOD.

To Tea Drinkers!

Probably three-fourths of the teas consumed are "Green Teas." Unpleasant as the fact may be, the bright shiny green so familiar to us all, is not the natural color, but is due to the facing or glazing of the tea with Prussian Blue, Indigo and other mineral colors.

That coloring hides the effects of poor teas is undoubted; but is it healthful, and does it not call loudly for the importation of a brand of pure, uncolored, unmanipulated tea?

It was this condition of affairs that prompted the placing of Beech's Tea before the public. Being the absolutely pure uncolored leaf, it is different in color from any you ever used. It draws a canary color of a delightful fragrance that is a revelation to tea drinkers, and its purity makes it more economical than the artificial teas, less of it being required per cup. Sold only in packages. 60 cents per pound. Ask for

THE SILVER QUESTION.

Senator Stewart on the "Call."

The San Francisco Report publishes the following communication:

Editor Daily Report—Sir: On the 25th of September last I addressed a communication to the editor of the Morning Call for the purpose of correcting some of the numerous misstatements and misconceptions of the silver question appearing in that paper. I regret that the Call has neglected to publish my communication. I can understand why the gold trust is compelled to misrepresent the facts with regard to silver. Their cause is not supported by reason, but by falsehood and fraud. But why a journal in San Francisco, the city above all others which has been most benefited by silver mining, should attempt to keep the people in ignorance or to mislead them on so important a question is a surprise.

I trust that, in pursuance of the general policy of fair play adopted by the Report, you will give place to the inclosed communication, which the Call has neglected to publish. Yours respectfully,

WM. M. STEWART.

PALACE HOTEL, Oct. 15, 1891.

THE DECLINED COMMUNICATION.

Editor of the Call, San Francisco, Cal.—Dear Sir: My attention has just been called to an article in the issue of the Call of the 13th of September, in which you say: "Senator Stewart says he has discovered that American producers have to take 25 to 30 per cent. less for their wheat than growers in Russia or India, because the former use a dearer money than the latter. There is no foundation for such assertion." I regret that a newspaper published on the Pacific Coast should have so little information on the subject as to deny that the Indian and Russian farmers have from 25 to 30 per cent. advantage of the American farmers in consequence of the fall in the price of silver, produced by the demonetization of that metal. I never heard it denied before by any organ of the gold trust that cheap silver gave the Asiatics a great advantage over the farmers of the United States. The fact that cheap silver stimulated production in India and increased exportations of wheat from that country, while it relieved the British consumer from paying tribute to the United States, cannot often indulge on the silver basis. The American farmer buys all his supplies, including imported articles upon which a high tariff is paid, on a gold basis. In other words, the American farmer produces with gold and sells for silver, while the Indian and Russian farmers produce with silver and sell for silver. If the Call cannot understand this explanation, the farmers of the United States do, and they are not satisfied to be compelled to pay gold prices for all they buy, and be forced to sell in the European market on a silver basis, in competition with the silver standard country.

Again the Call says: "Mr. Stewart thinks meanly of the intelligence of the farmers when he says that they must have free coinage in order to get more money and better prices for their exports." It is a very long time since any class of persons in the United States entertained the delusion that prices were governed by coinage, unless the coinage were depreciated. I would like to know what determines the price of property if coinage does not. I had supposed that the real money of the world—by real money I mean money that does not require redemption, but is of itself money of ultimate redemption—measured the property of the world. I had also supposed that the value of property depended upon the volume of money; that if all the money of the world were doubled, prices would rise about one-half, and that if one-half of the money of the world were destroyed, prices would sink to about one-half of the volume of money. If coinage has nothing to do with the value of property, how does it happen that the average price of commodities between 1810 and 1850, when the supply of the precious metals was cut off by the Spanish-American war, declined nearly 50 per cent? Why is it that the average price of commodities when the gold fields of California and Australia were productive between 1850 and 1875 rose over 30 per cent? Was it not because more gold was coined than formerly? Did not coinage on that occasion have something to do with the price of wheat and cotton? How does it happen that since silver was demonetized and half of the supply of the precious metals cut off, the average price of commodities has declined in eighteen years fully 30 per cent? Is the Call confident that coinage has nothing to do with price? It is estimated by statisticians that coined value of nearly $70,000,000. The Government now issues, under the act of 1890, Treasury notes and exchanges them for bullion at its market price, dollar for dollar, and when the bullion is coined, as the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to do, the Government will realize the difference between the market price and the coined value. Under free coinage there would be no difference between the market price of 412½ grains of standard silver and a standard dollar. When the Call says that the miners would make the difference between the dollar and the market price of 412½ grains of standard silver its utter nonsense, because if 412½ grains could be exchanged for a dollar at the Mint it would be worth a dollar in the market. Twenty-five and eight-tenths grains of standard gold can be exchanged for a dollar at the Mint. Consequently 25-8/10 grains of standard gold is always worth a dollar in the market; no more and no less.

For thousands of years the market value of silver was the same as the coined value. This is necessarily the case under free coinage. It was not until the silver dollar was clandestinely omitted from the list of coins that silver depreciated in the market. The only way that either gold or silver bullion can be kept at par is by free coinage. If gold were excluded from the mints of the civilized world its price in the silver dollar would fall much more than silver; fell when it was stricken down, because silver is the money of the people and is used by all semi-civilized countries as a legal tender and by civilized countries for subsidiary coin at least. The silver miners have never asked the American people to dispose of the surplus revenue or any other revenue to buy silver. They are opposed to the pur-

THE PYRAMID RESERVATION.

An Agreement Reached Between Indians and Commissioners.

Captain C. C. Warner, accompanied by the Commissioners sent out from Washington to investigate the feasibility of opening a part of the Pyramid Reservation, including a portion of the lake, to settlers, came up from Wadsworth last night. The commission is composed of Cyrus Beede of Iowa, ex-Governor Ormsbee of Vermont and W. A. Morgan of Kansas. The commission has been investigating the subject for a month or more and have finally decided to not touch the lake, but to cut off about 20,000 acres of the reservation on the line dividing townships 21 and 22. This will include all the land in the reservation skirting the Truckee river, and will give the farmers on the tract a chance to make application for final proof. The commission has secured the signatures of two-thirds the Indians now on the reservation to an agreement to sell to the government the tract mentioned for and in consideration of the sum of $20,000 worth of cattle; the cattle to be run on a plan to be suggested by the Secretary of the Interior—provided Congress ratifies the agreement. They will most likely be put in charge of the agent. D. C. Wheeler is running about 20,000 sheep on the reservation now, and other stockmen are also using it, but will have to move if the reservation is stocked for the Indians. The party went to Walker Lake this morning, accompanied by Senator Stewart, D. A. Bender, Jim Yerington

States, was one of the important considerations which induced the Royal Commission of England to decline to recommend the demonetization of silver. I am bound, however, to assume that your article was written in good faith and that the Call is ignorant of the real facts in the case. Assuming that the Call desires to be set right in this matter, I will endeavor to state the facts and bring them within the comprehension of the editor of that paper.

The silver rupee is the legal unit of money in India. All transactions in that country are on the silver basis. No gold is in circulation as money. The silver rupee is the legal unit of money in Russia, and its such must contain 27½ grains of fine silver, which is worth at the coined value of silver in the United States seventy and ninety-six hundredths cents. The principal circulating medium in Russia is paper money which is at a discount in silver. A large portion of the Russian debt is held abroad, and is payable in gold.

The assertion that the paper money of Russia is maintained at par with gold is not true. It is not even maintained on a par with silver. But it is improving, and Russia, it is to be hoped, will soon be able to maintain her paper circulation at par with her standard money—silver.

Silver has always been the standard money and the unit of value in both Russia and India. The purchasing power of silver in those countries has not materially changed. It will buy as much of labor, land or any other material which goes into the production of wheat and cotton as it ever would. The Indian and Russian farmers sell their wheat and cotton in the European market and take drafts payable in their own money. The Indian farmer takes council bills which are payable in rupees in India. The Russian farmer takes drafts payable in his own country in silver rubles; but inasmuch as rupees and silver rubles are about 30 per cent. cheaper than gold in Europe, he gets 30 per cent. more for them for his wheat or cotton.

In other words, the Russian and Indian farmers get 25 to 30 per cent. more in silver, which is their money, than the American farmer does in gold which is his money. But the Russian and Indian farmers can produce as much wheat or cotton with a dollar in silver as the American farmer can with a dollar in gold. The Russian and Indian farmers buy all their supplies, except imported articles—a luxury they in 1873 there were about 7500 million dollars of gold and silver coin in the world. All this coin was money of ultimate redemption, and served as bank and governmental reserves. Since silver was demonetized there has been no material increase in the gold coin of the world. The Director of the Mint tells us that there are only $727 million dollars of gold coin now in existence. It is not a curious fact that the reduction of the coin of ultimate redemption about one-half has been accompanied by a corresponding reduction in the price of property? If coinage has nothing to do with the price of property, why coin either gold or silver? There is now no marked, 3727 millions of gold coin in the world. Why coin any more if it has nothing to do with the price of property? Is the Call perfectly certain that if no more gold or silver were coined, the price of property would remain the same?

Again, the Call says: "It would be a grand thing, no doubt, for Senator Stewart's constituents to be able—as he demands—to take 412½ grains of silver to the mint and to obtain a standard dollar in exchange, so as to make the difference between the dollar and the market price of 412½ grains; but the American people are not just now engaged in bestowing alms on Senator Stewart and his associates, and the more they hear from him the less inclined they grow to make that disposition of their surplus revenue."

"Why should the people of Nevada be thus assailed by a daily newspaper of the city of San Francisco, a city which has grown rich from the Comstock lode? Nearly all the treasure produced in Nevada has found its way to San Francisco, and left the State poor indeed. When the miners of Nevada acquired their property in silver mines, they had a right to believe that silver would always be used as money. It has been used as money longer than gold. It was more suitable for that purpose. It was used by nearly twelve hundred millions of people. They had no right to expect that any secret scheme should be invented and carried into effect to enhance the value of bonds and destroy their property. Already the silver miners have suffered a discount of more than $100,000,000 in the silver they have produced since the crime of 1873 was perpetrated. The Government of the United States has made a clear profit in buying silver at its market price and issuing it at its chase of silver on any terms by the Government. They simply ask that the Government of the United States should obey the Constitution and coin their bullion into money. Respectfully, (Signed) WM. M. STEWART.

Much Needed Repairs.

The third ward school building presents an admirable appearance. For a year past it has been in a most dilapidated condition. The County Commissioners taking time by the forelock have utilized old father time as a brush and repainted the whole edifice which now wears a respectable aspect. The repainting which was badly needed was done by S. H. Carpenter, who put on artistic touches that the pupils of the edifice will remember for many a day.

Progress.

It is very important to this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

and others, to look the situation over there and see if that reservation can't be curtailed without serious inconvenience to the Indians.

Help but Don't Coerce.

To help nature in its efforts to throw off the trammels of disease is, of course, the legitimate method of medication. This method is, unfortunately, too often diverged from and help perverted into coercion. Drastic, excessive purging is undoubtedly the most frequent form of coercion of this sort. The bowels are forced, literally wrung into action. Of course this is accompanied by much gripping pain, and succeeded by exhaustion, which leaves the organs of evacuation in a state incompatible with subsequent regularity and activity. The last state of that man or woman who uses drastic cathartics for constipation is decidedly worse than at the first. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the finest laxative in existence, since it produces the needed but no abnormal action, is progressive, and abrupt in operation, but strengthens instead of weakening the organs upon which it acts. Use it for malarial, bilious, rheumatic and dyspeptic ailments.

The Result of Merit.

When anything stands a test of fifty years among a discriminating people like the Americans, it is pretty good evidence that there is merit somewhere. The value of a medicine is best proved by its continued use from year to year by the same persons and families, as well as by a steady increasing sale. Few, if any, medicines have met with such continued success and popularity as has marked the introduction and progress of Bradstreet's Pills, which, after a trial of fifty years are conceded to be the safest and most effective purgative and blood purifier introduced to the public.

That this is the result of merit, and that Bradstreet's Pills actually perform all that is claimed for them, is conclusively proved by the fact that those who regard them with the greatest favor are those who have used them the longest. Bradstreet's Pills are sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.
